Special to The Tribune. OGDEN, May 11.—A large representation of the Weber county delegates to the state Republican convention at Provo on May 15 held a caucus in the county building this afternoon for the purpose of organization and to reach some agreement as to what Weber county will ask of the state body. While no definite decision was reached regarding the latter proposition, it is quite certain that the Weber delegates will demand one delegate to the national convention, there being eight to be named.

Another caucus of the Weber delegates will be held at Provo on the morning of the convention day, at which time it is expected that a definite request for a national delegate will be formulated. It is said that Charles Hollingsworth and John C. Davis are candidates for election as national delegates, while the Roosevelt following among the Weber delegation is insisting that former Mayor William Glasman be the Weber county representative from Utah.

The delegates today selected County Chairman Samuel G. Dye as the chairman of the delegation to the state convention and also selected the Oregon Short Line as the official road over which to make the trip.

Shortes discovered several cases of strawberries which were not up to the standard of sanitary perfection and immediately condemned them as unfit for consumption. From this time on he proposes to make regular calls upon the dealers in fruits, berries and vegetables to insure the sale of only sound and healthy food. He also requests consumers to return to their grocers at once all unsound food, as just complaints will receive the support of the city health department.
